

Summer School

INTERDISCIPLINARY PERSPECTIVES ON TRANSNATIONAL MIGRANT REMITTANCES

September 23 to 27, 2024 (5-day block event)
at the Ruhr-University Bochum

The Summer School introduces students to the often-separated debates on financial, social, and non-material ("intangible") remittances. From various disciplinary perspectives, participants will explore the ambivalent impact of remittances between supporting families and communities, local development and the (re)production of social inequalities. Interdisciplinary teams will create short podcasts on key aspects of remittances.

Lecture dates

June 7, 2024, 2-4 p.m. mandatory preparation meeting

September 23-27, 2024 block event

October 18, 2024, 9-12 a.m. presentation day and follow up meeting

For Master students from all master study programs

Application with letter of motivation via Mail to elena.fattorelli@rub.de

Application deadline extended to April 30, 2024

