Call for Nominations for the 2021 Ernst E. Boesch Prize

For the fourth time, the Gesellschaft für Kulturpsychologie e.V. is inviting nominations for the Ernst E. Boesch Prize for outstanding scholarly work in the field of cultural psychology.

The deadline for nominations is February 28, 2021. Outstanding scientists who have contributed to the advancement and expansion of the field of cultural psychology through outstanding achievement can be nominated. The fourth award ceremony will take place during the Annual Meeting of the Gesellschaft für Kulturpsychologie, September 23-25, 2021, in Ascona, which is located on the Swiss side of Lake Maggiore.

The award commemorates the cultural psychologist Prof. Dr. Dr. h.c. mult. Ernst Eduard Boesch who died in 2014 at the age of 97. Since 2015, the prize has been awarded every two years by the Gesellschaft für Kulturpsychologie.

The prize is awarded in two categories:

a) The Main Prize (3000 euros) is awarded for a fundamental and lasting contribution to the field, usually consisting of several publications and other scientific achievements (e.g., development of a research program, merits in teaching or institutionalization of cultural psychology).

b) The Young Researcher Award (1000 euros) is awarded for an individual contribution (e.g., an outstanding dissertation or master’s thesis).

In 2019, the winner of the Main Prize was Patricia M. Greenfield (University of California, Los Angeles) and the Young Researcher Award went to Regina Arant (Jacobs University Bremen).

The 2021 and future Ernst Boesch Prizes will be announced and awarded in cooperation with the Hans Kilian and Lotte Köhler Center (KKC) for Social and Cultural Psychology and Historical Anthropology, Ruhr University Bochum, Germany.

How to nominate a candidate
Any member of the Gesellschaft für Kulturpsychologie, as well as any scholar working at a university or comparable institution, can nominate a candidate. Self-nomination is not permitted.

Nominations can be submitted in German or English and must include:
- the nominee’s curriculum vitae
- a list of the nominee’s publications
- an approx. one-page recommendation letter from a scholar in the field of cultural psychology

The award winners will give a thematically relevant lecture during the award ceremony, which will be open to the public.

The winner of the Main Prize is expected to write a short monograph, which will be published by Psychosozial-Verlag in Germany. The Gesellschaft für Kulturpsychologie will organize and finance the publication.

The selection of awardees is the responsibility of a specially appointed jury. The jury’s decision is final.
